National Award Nomination for Mumpreneur

Being a parent whilst juggling a business is a hard task, and nobody knows this better than Katie Powell. Katie, a mother of Molly and Freddy from Farnham, Surrey runs an award winning maternity jeans business, Mama Jeanius. Mama Jeanius design & manufacture exceptional quality, British, designer maternity jeans, which are sold in multiple countries across the globe. Mama Jeanius maternity jeans are a superior fit which are designed to last the entire pregnancy and provide that chic look, essential for any maternity wardrobe. Mama Jeanius was launched in 2011 as a way for Katie to stay at home with her young children, continue her career and solve a problem for those looking for a perfect pair of maternity jeans. She has been nominated for an award at The Mumpreneur Awards 2013 in association with a range of business sponsors, for a national award scheme for mums who run their own enterprise.

The Mumpreneur Awards 2013 in association with its business sponsors are the UK's first national business awards dedicated solely to mums in business. Now in its fifth year, the awards have been a platform for many mumpreneurs to enhance their business, and continue to grow even through this uncertain economic climate.

As well as being nominated in the Best Online Business and Best Mumpreneur Product categories, Katie is also in with a chance of winning The Inspirational Business Mum Award, which will be awarded to the mother who proves to be an inspiration to all women in business.

Katie now has to wait until the end of August, when she will find out whether she has made the finals, which will be taking place on 28th September 2013.
